Accessibility chairlift

If you are travelling to Engelberg by public transport, the free public bus will take you from the train station to the Titlis valley station in about 5 minutes. You can find more information here; <https://www.engelberg.ch/gratis-bus> You can reach the valley station on foot in about 5-10 minutes. At the Titlis valley station, take the gondola lift to the first intermediate station, Trübsee. Now it's time to strap on your skis and take the first bends to the 'Hopper' chairlift, which transports you 'over the lake' to the Jochpass chairlift. Bärghuis Jochpass is located around 200 metres from the top station of the Jochpass chairlift. Travelling on foot is also possible in winter. The only difference is that the 'Hopper' chairlift may not be used without snow sports equipment on your feet for safety reasons. This means that you can enjoy a leisurely 20-minute walk between Trübsee and Jochpass-chairlift. If you are a pedestrian with a lot of luggage, it is worth transporting your luggage. Otherwise it can be very tiring to carry your luggage with you. On arrival, we ask you to be at the Titlis valley station in Engelberg by 3.30 pm at the latest so that you can catch the last ascent on the Trübsee - Jochpass chairlift at 4.15 pm. We will not be available later!

Parking is available at the Titlisbahn in Engelberg. Parking fee CHF 10.00 per day/car.

The car may remain parked in the car park overnight despite the parking ban. Please inform the parking service that you are staying overnight in the Jochpass. If you do not follow the instructions, your car may be towed away for a fee - due to snow removal. In case there is no parking sign on site, please park somewhere on the edge, so that the snow removal vehicles can do their work in case of snowfall.

If you take your luggage up to the Jochpass by yourself, you are welcome to leave it in the shoe room on the 1st floor until check-in.
